Just as time flows forward, so goes life at BGHS.

Moving into a new high school building was only one activity which sparked the beginning of a new perspective for students and teachers who have an eye for progress.

This Speaker tries to reflect that progressive spirit as it follows the theme--

"Forward, On, and never back."

Everyone Has Something in Common—

The spirit and the skill--unbeatable combination!

Typical of the environment at the BGHS Christmas party are Margaret Harness and David Straube. On the more scholastic level, Mrs. Anna Burke demonstrates the dissection of an earthworm to biology students.

A school, like a diamond, sparkles on many facets. These pages indicate some of the facets adding sparkle to BGHS.

The people, both students and teachers, show the spirit and enthusiasm to have fun anywhere, to do a job well, to play a good game, or to make a superior grade.

Planning is the intangible "something" illustrated in the picture above. This particular planning took place at a publications workshop last summer, and was for the school paper and yearbook, but it is an example of the planning necessary to keep a student well prepared, a leader ahead, and a teacher ready for the class all year long.

School spirit, in conjunction with planning, makes a school ready to meet what comes with courage and understanding. The pictures on these pages have tried to capture the spirit and planning that keep BGHS progressing--socially, athletically, and scholastically.

"Oh, Bowl-ing Green .

Enrollment cards, class schedules, seven teachers a day, one locker for books--all part of the plans for 1966.

Dear Ol' High, Here's to You"

Moving was a part of school life last year. First came the freshmen moving into the world of upper classmen. (At left is Terry Miller listening to the transister radio he won selling more Speakers than any other salesman--so you could hear all about BGHS in 1966.)

The next move was from an old building and that took everybody's time, energy, and ideas. The final moves go on all the time in any high school --the move of students from children to adults.

Christmas decorating and tournament time occupy EVERYBODY.

When the last bell rings and the doors swing open, it doesn't take an expert to tell that old or new BGHS is moving forward.

Truly Forward, On, Never Back

Annice is the first to point out the fact that "our new lights are attractive."

The morning (and other) announcements come via the new intercom system.

After all the moving vans, stacked boxes, and scattered belongings, BGHS settled into a remarkably efficient routine.

The moving and unpacking became a familiar sight and continued even after classes began in the new building last January.

These pictures show the modern equipment and facilities and enlarged work areas available in the new school.

Visible here (and typical of other departments) are a permanently-drawn polar graph, overhead projector and permanently mounted projection screen. Other new audio-visual equipment available for the first time were two Da-Masters which use television-screentype receivers and may be used in lighted rooms.

These rooms and facilities are examples of the more modern education available as BGHS moves forward. The sections of this book dealing with administration, faculty, and activities will illustrate the changing conditions as all BGHS people move from the "old" to the "new."

This book itself is dedicated to the teacher pictured above, Mrs. Velma Birkhead, who has taught mathematics here for the past twelve years.

Mrs. Birkhead has just signed a contract at Warrensburg College as an assistant professor, and is, herself, a personal example of the progressive spirit of BGHS.

Forward! on! and never back

"May I take your picture?" said the photographer.
"Shall I pose like this?" said Mr. Smith.
(It was a bargain.)

Combining his personal dreams with those of a community, Superintendent Mr. Murry S. Smith, moved the R-1 high school into a new $700,000 plant on January 3, 1966. In his 14th year of school-administration work, Mr. Smith has helped the R-1 district triple in evaluation and double in enrollment.

Mr. Smith, who has been at BGHS for five years, has Masters and B.S. Degrees from Missouri State Teachers College.

Mrs. Richards has been his secretary for 5 1/2 years.

Mrs. Kattelmann has been the principal's secretary for five years.

Supt's secretary, above, Mrs. Carol Richards; Principal's secretary, top, Mrs Ed Kattermann; and Principal, Mr. George Nienhueser, bring 17 years of "school" experience to BGHS. Mr Nienhueser holds Masters and B S. Degrees from Missouri University and has been in BGHS administration seven years. Mrs. Richards is also Treasurer of the Dist

Experience Leads the Bowling Green High School began the year with 468 students and 24 faculty members.

These teachers carried 54 classes in the following departments: art, social studies, driver education, music, business education, science, industrial arts, mathematics, physical education, foreign language, English, vocational home economics and agriculture, and other staff members provided library, guidance, and study hall service.

Vocational agriculture I, II, III, and IV enrolled 67 students; the instructor is also FFA sponsor.

Fifty-eight high school students took art I, II, or III, and the department also sponsored an annual art show at the last PTA meeting.

The team of business education instructors had 275 students in these classes: typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, clerical practice, general business, business law & English, journalism I, and school publications.

This department also sponsored employment-type testing programs in accordance with NEA and Gregg publishing division.

Miss Wiley demonstrates typing for one of her students. She has 3 typing classes

English and language is the largest department at BGHS. Enrollment ran 548 in 24 classes.

Mrs. Doyle had five sections of English I; Miss Hemme had three composition classes; Mrs. Motley had four English III sections. Sophomore English had four sections; and English IV needed two sections.

Students write autobiographies, study folk music, learn oral communication, write term papers, study literature, do translations, have pen pals plus, of course, the "regular" associated activities.

French classes were introduced during the 1963 term. Spanish and Latin were already in the curriculum.

Mrs. Doyle was Pike County Teachers Ass'n nominating committee chairman; Mrs. Mudd was secretary of that group.

BGHS presents at least two annual dramatic productions. Mrs. Motley directed Jr. and Sr. plays this term.

Miss Hemme became Mrs. Randal Kristofferson during Christmas vacation.

Miss Bankhead faced the task of moving the entire high school library.

Caring for the Physical

Physical education staff members handle 597 students daily--179 in Mr. Wilson's classes; 242 with Mr. Kissinger; and 176 with Mr. Wacker.

Regular classes include gymnastics, pyramid building, calisthenics, trampoline, workouts on the track.

A week on gun safety was added for the 1st such class in Pike County. National Rifle Ass'n patches were earned by 108 students. Nuclear survival sessions were added to health.

Varsity & jr. varsity baseball, basketball, and track, and a physical-fitness testing program are also operated by the department.

This department also sponsors a free, public gymnastic show. Mr. Wilson volunteers time to work with an optional, intramural program which includes eight sports.

Two sets of lab equipment are accessible at each table and two experiments are usually done at each one.

Chemistry students use four of the areas; physics students use the others.

A hood is located in the SE corner of the room allowing harmful gas and odors to escape. All drains are glass. Chemicals are stored at the front of the room and in a middle room.

An instructor's table faces the other work areas.

Biology rooms have nine tables and one whole wall of sinks and cabinets, and are similar in other features to the science facilities

School Life

It Is

August, 1965 . . .

Breaking 'silence day' cost Helen Laecht a session with the 'gossip pail.' Below: SCLC marchers, just entering Broadway in Hannibal, Missouri, still have a long way to go.

... Time for a School To Come to Life

August through November are activity-laden weeks at BGHS. An autography party on Aug. 20 for 1965 Speaker distribution was last fall's first event.

Enrollment of 470 students followed on Sept. 1 and with it the flurry of activities newspaper work, picture taking, & a score of annual social events.

Early in September and October, Vocational Agriculture boys grossed about $20,037.50 on 250 head of swine in two sales.

October also meant tired, aching feet to the 72 band members who marched 1 1/2 miles in the 18th annual Mark Twain marching festival held in Hannibal, Missouri. Twenty-two schools participated in the event.

Student Council activities materialized with Loyalty Week and Silence Day. Offenders on silence day were fined 1¢ a word and sentenced to carry the "gossip" bucket.

The first red-letter day in the fall for 65 BGHS seniors was September 26; when they left on the senior trip for Washington, D.C. and New York. Going in Sept. instead of April, seniors and trip sponsors visited the World's Fair as well as taking usual tours.

While the "mighty, mighty seniors" were away, the "jolly, jolly juniors" were home making preparations for the junior play, "And came the Spring", which was presented October 22.

Earliest fall activities always include the annual autograph party and FFA swine sales. Students (above) gathered on the old high school lawn last August to sign '65 Speakers. Terry Grote says as he scrubs, "You're as dirty as a pig!"

Band uniform distribution is helped by Band Boosters organization.
Becky Sanderson is being fitted for a coat.

Everyone Faces New Worlds

Sixty-five seniors and five sponsors spent Sept. 26 to Oct. 3 touring Washington, D.C. and New York. The group spent sixteen hours at the World's Fair and took twenty-one tours. Tours included Federal Bureau of Investigation, Arlington Cemetery, Library of Congress, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Greenwich Village, and Chinatown.

Students were invited to the "October 7" by the FFA Chapter. Mike Deane, member (center) rolls down his truck's odds while Linda Lee, Mrs. Matney, sponsor, and Elaine Steffer work on second-hand texts brought in for sale as the Student Center sponsored fund. This service is offered during next week.

Each Year Is

Mr. Nienhuser adds "bubble" (up) to the punch for Miss Hemme's shower. Hostess Miss Joyce Wiley finds that guests liked the punch and Miss Hemme liked her gifts. Below: Pep rallies precede first home game and "big" games later in the season.

Part Tradition, Part Innovation

November always brings with it the beginning of basketball season. Pep assemblies, complete with a pep band and cheers, preceded "big" games to boost students' spirits.

During the early part of the year, freshmen found that the excitement of high school was slightly shadowed by the batteries of guidance tests.

In December, it was wedding-bell time for English instructor Miss Betty Hemme. Fellow teachers showed their congratulations with a shower.

Freshmen get well tested in the fall. Class sponsor, Mrs. Pauline Doyle, helps distribute test booklets to this group of testees.

Harvest Season Brings Barnwarmin'

Warmin' up the "mike," Danny Lewis gets $33 for Patty Beavers' cake and 3300 votes for Patty who is a queen candidate.

The fifth annual FFA-FHA barnwarmin' was held Oct. 29 with seniors, Linda Nutter & Danny Moss, reigning over the festivities.

Approximately 150 students apple bobbed, square danced, & contributed to an auction of cakes baked by the queen candidates.

Linda's cake brought a record $62.00 winning for her the queen's crown. The king was elected by a penny a vote.

Recording School History Is 'Big Business'

School newspaper & yearbook staffs begin work early--usually before enrollment.

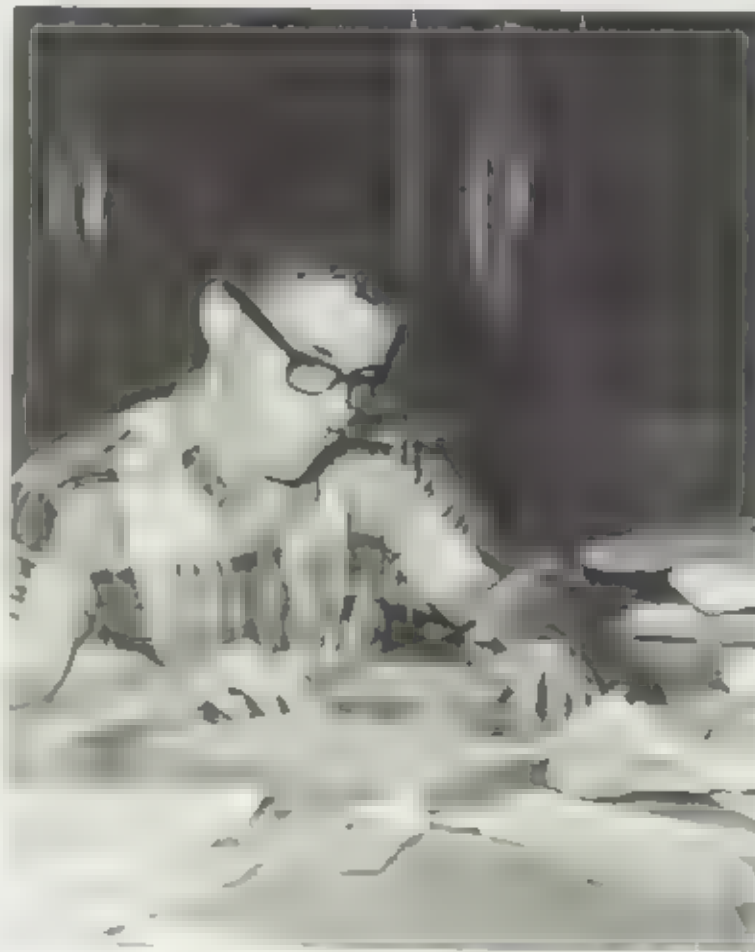

Staff members are for the most part, in the School Publications or the Journalism I class, and receive one or two units of credit for their work.

Work on both these publications is done in both of the classes.

"Group-picture day" means a big job for all staff members. Nearly every BGHSer is included in at least one group picture and had to be assigned a standing position, proper identification, and escorted to the proper picture area.

The National School Studios in St. Charles has taken the group picture for the last several years.

1966 is the fifth anniversary of the BOBCASTER which appears weekly in the Bowling Green TIMES. Staffers prepare at least 4,500 words of copy weekly and use about 50 square inches of pictures.

Ron Rowland signs his pen over a BOBCASTER headline while Dan Stapleton and Kathy Dean check receipts

 alignment with Mr. Wayne Murray, Larry Caldwell, and Stapleton. Principle, Mr. Niemeyer, tells group speaker taking band members.

This Year It's the Monkey or the Jerk

The high school PTA sponsored the Annual Christmas Party, December 23. The "Chevelles" provided dance music.

Ping pong, cards, games, and a movie occupied students who did not dance. A fortune teller was a new feature of the Christmas Party. Door prizes were awarded this year and students were required to sign in and to remain at the party.

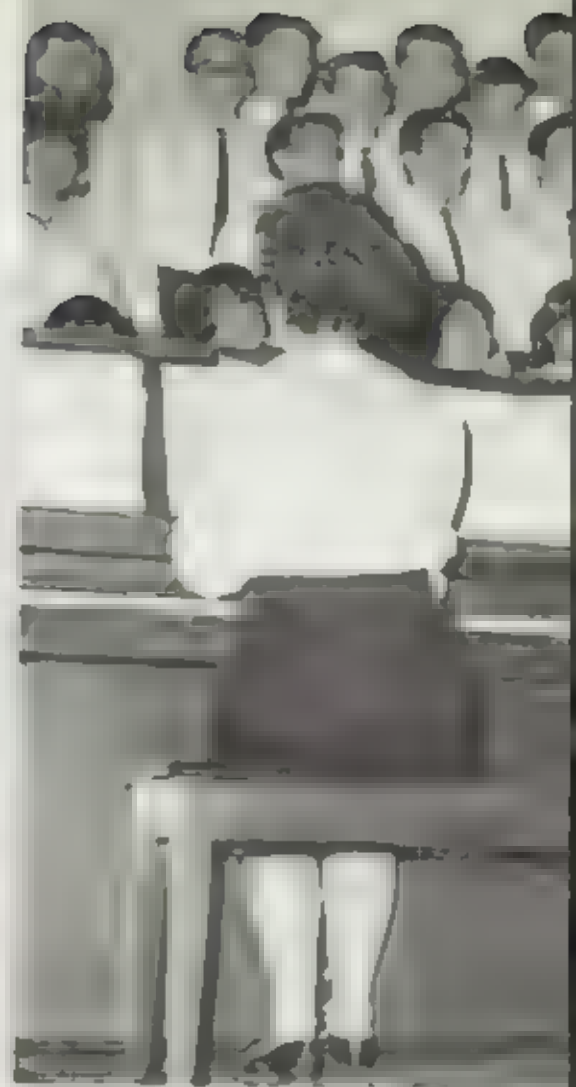

PTA mothers served refreshments to the 308 students who attended. District school busses ran regular routes, permitting any student to attend the party.

The Christmas concert, narrated by Mike Meyer, was presented Dec. 20. Band Board members decorated the trees and the stage, set up risers and chairs, supervised ticket sales, and chose the narrator and ushers.

Linda Nutter, Mary Ann Gillum, Charlie Brown and Wayne Korte were ushers.

Band Director, Mr. Marvin Stratmann, and his musicians played to a capacity crowd in the gym.

Three choral groups conducted by Miss Marilyn Black participated in the concerts.

This was the spirit of BGHS during the Yuletide season.

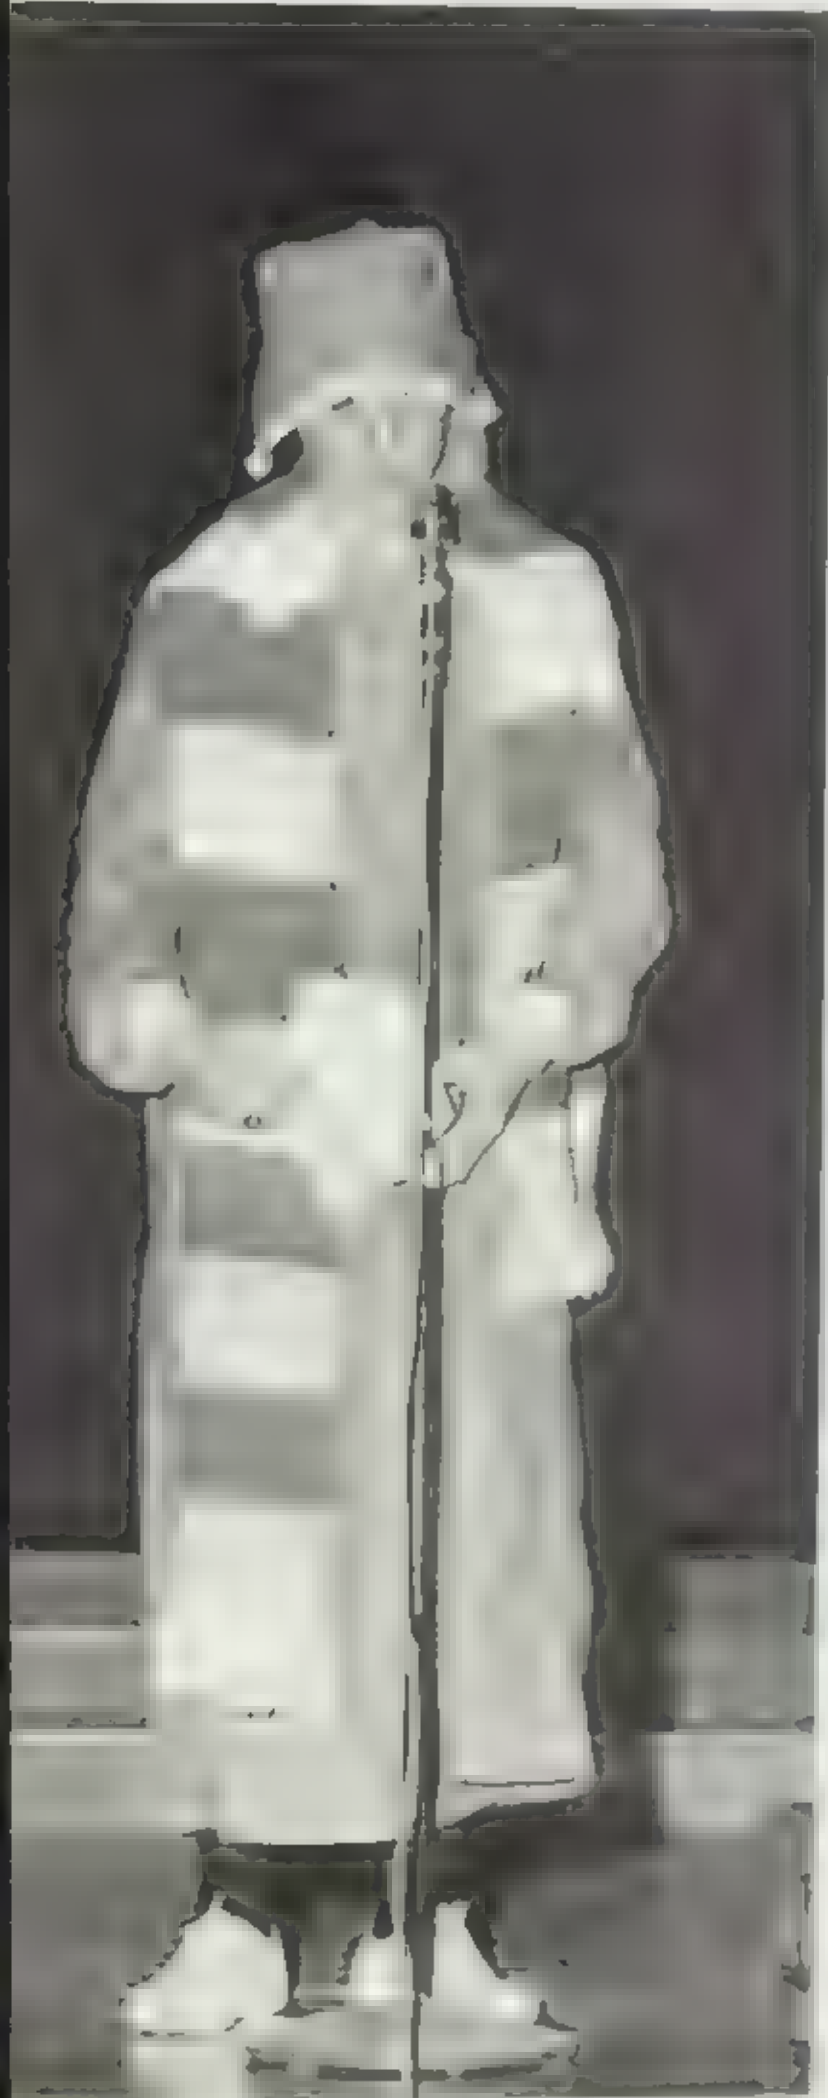

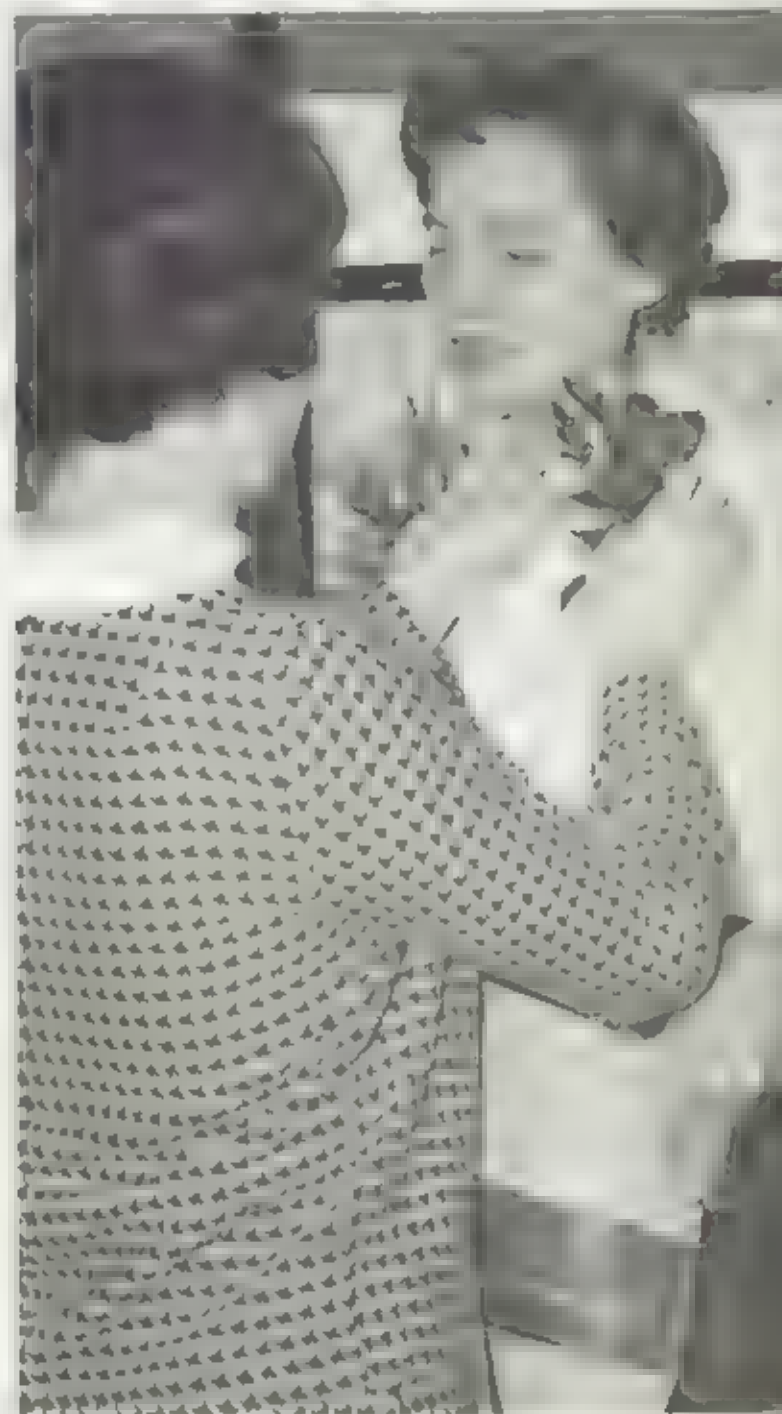

Miss Black and glee club members "take a bow" after a successful concert performance, as narrator Mike Meyer introduces the next number.

Now Lighthearted, Now Serious

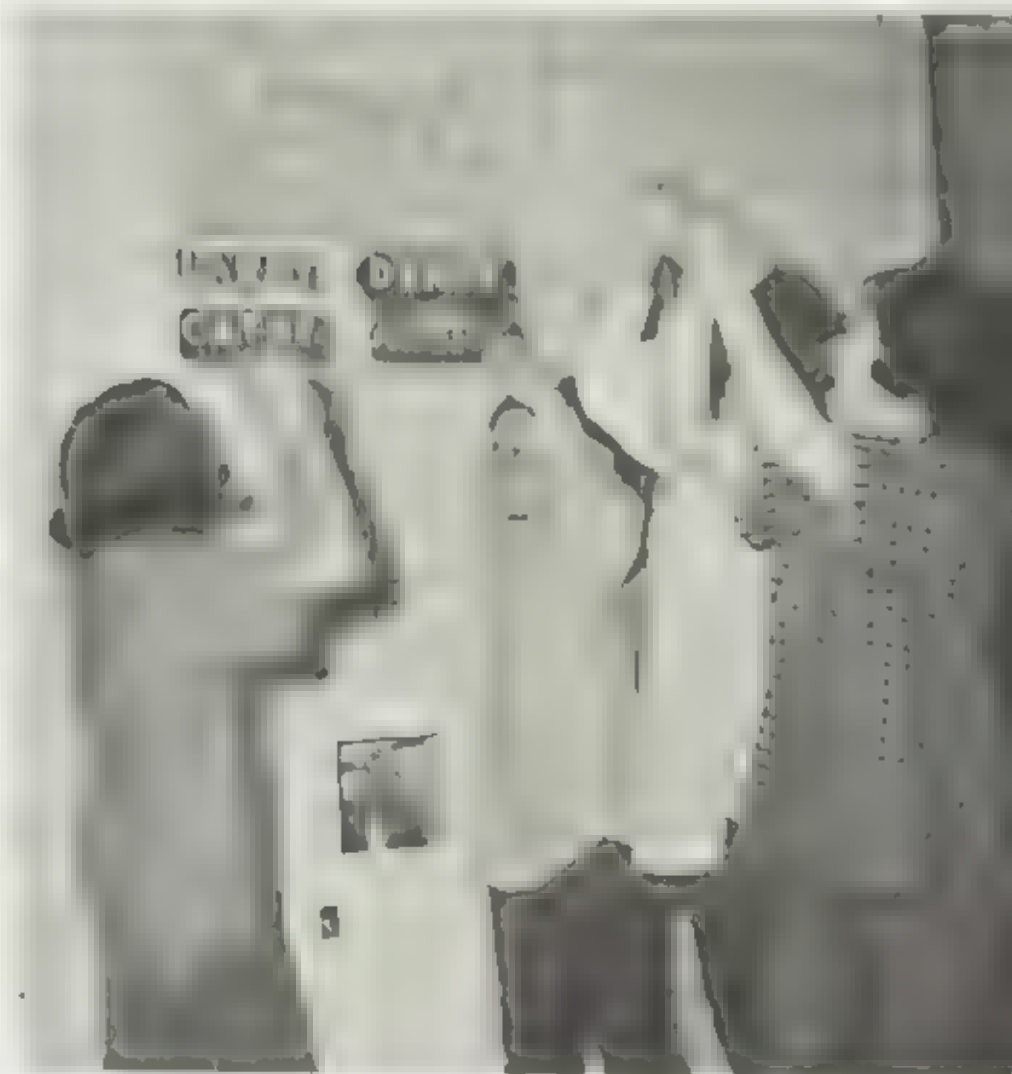

Even before all boxes could be unpacked, BGHS students began activities in a new high school. First night event in the new auditorium was the FFA-FHA hootenanny. Commentator for the event and boys' style boss was "Grandma" Jerry Gamm. The Frosh won second place. Other early activities in the new school were FHA Teacher Appreciation Day, FFA Parent Sou Banquet, and the record breaking March swine sale. In this sale, Richard Nutter sold one animal for $307.50. The "Happy Five Plus Two" (German jazz band) won first place in the hootenanny talent show.

A New Scene and

Spring Brings Renewed Activity

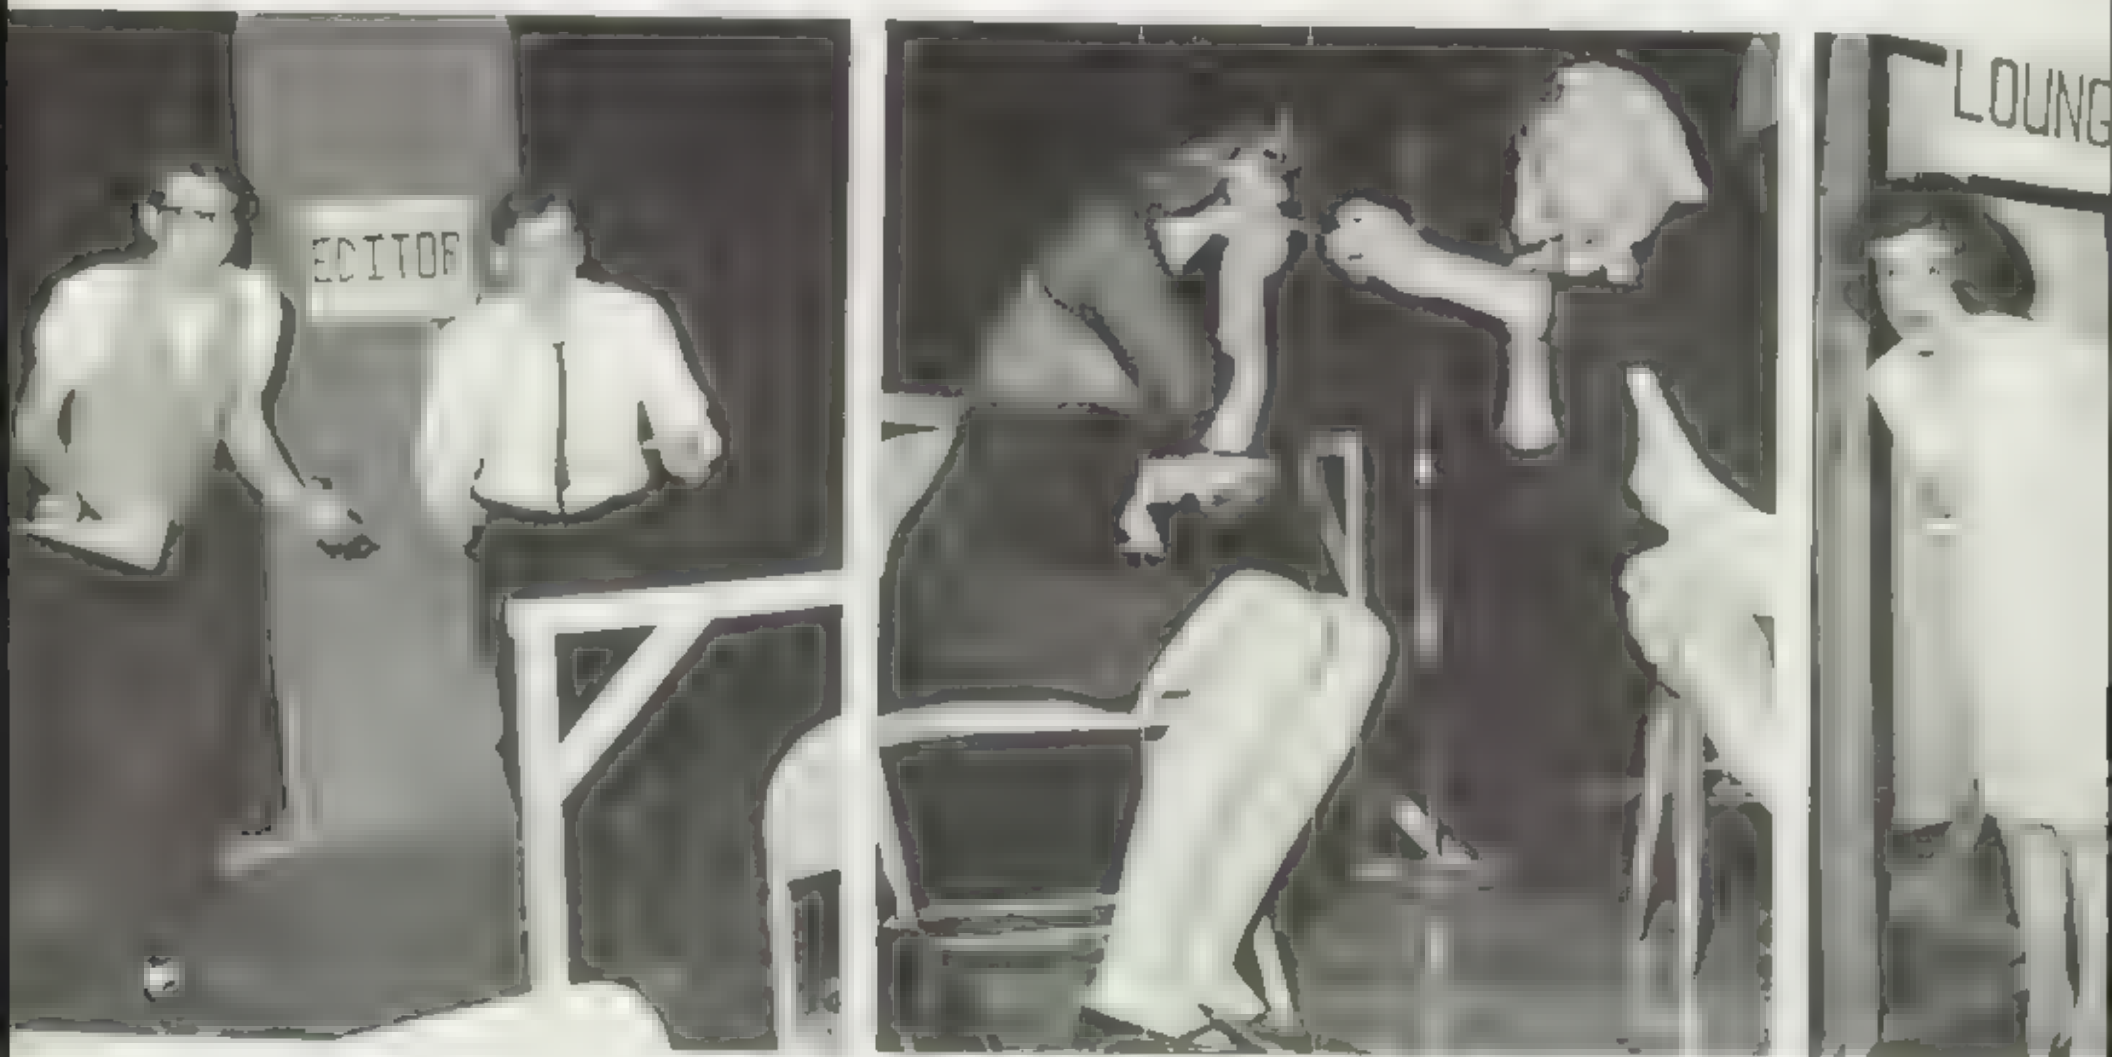

Larry Grinstead is speaking to the student body to gain support in the student council election. Each speaker was allowed five minutes to outline his plans for the student council. Five minutes were given to each campaign manager to summarize his parties' policies. Parties were: the winning Federalists, Larry Grinstead, president; Danny Scherder, VP; Cathy Williams, sec'y; Alicia Boston, treas. Nationalists' candidates were president, David Orf; Monty Branstetter, VP; Susan Chapman, sec'y; Elaine Scherder, treas.

The move to the new high school was completed on April 7 when the library books were brought to the new building. Students moved the books during PE class.

Yearbook deadline kept editor Anne C. Straube busy.

An End to 'Play Days' Draws

Seniors presented the first double cast play in the last three years, and the first play held in the new auditorium April 28 and 29.

The play, "Dear Phoebe," was a newspaper comedy centered around a series of events occurring in the editorial offices of the DAILY STAR. The plot of the play took shape when Bill Hastings was employed as an advice-to-the-love-lorn columnist, and fell in love with female sportswriter Mickey Riley.

Sports fixer Big Joe Moroni, "chantoosey" Rochelle Mignonne, eccentric owner of the STAR Victoria Parrish, gossip columnist Sandra Winchelle, and editor G. R. Fosdick added interest to the presentation.

Vocal groups followed a folk-music theme at the pop concert May 6; the concert and junior bands played Broadway selections.

Spring Activity

Attendees Get Innovations

Fifty-two students modeled suits, dresses, formals, skirts, blouses, in this year's style show. A factory with night watchman, Marvin Smith, set the scene. All garments modeled were made by home economics students, either in classroom work or as home projects in three classes.

This year's annual art exhibit was held in the new art room, saving the customary moving procedure. Parents and others attending the April PTA meeting visited the display which was opened to the student body the next day. Following this exhibit, several of the students displayed work in store windows.

Prom Is Spring's Crowning Activity

BGHS faculty members seated on the gym floor while others go to and from the dance floor by means of the footbridge. The "Chevels" provided music for dancing.

"Paradise" was the prom setting and the "Chevels" entertained. "Lost In Paradise" theme was developed by Mrs. Jensen and the Juniors.

Dancers entered the dance floor (gym stage) via a flower-covered footbridge over a gold-fish pool.

Tables erected on the gym floor echoed the theme with decoration and printed programs.

After the prom ended at midnight, many of the students danced on the town square from 2-4, or attended a PTA-sponsored movie at the local theatre or a parent sponsored breakfast from 1-6 in a local cafe.

Linda Nutter, being crowned Prom Queen by jr. class president Danny Lewis was elected by the faculty.

Is Spirit- Rousing Activity

The fact that basketball has always been a drawing card at BGHS resulted in several changes in crowd facilities.

This year, 500 more bleacher seats were added at the south end of the gymnasium; rest-rooms were enlarged; a ventilated smoking room was made available; two gates were opened for each game and three were used for the tournaments; the main entrance got a new ticket booth; and fiber-glass (see-through) backboards were installed.

The Regional tournament was held at Bowling Green this year.

Bowling Green also won the pep squad trophy at the Wellsville tournament. Officers were Vice-Pres., Judy Bibb; Sec. Kathie Beddies; Treas., Lana Wright, and Student Council Rep., Pam Leake.

liams aided director, Miss Marilyn Black, as librarians.

Selected from the choir was the 'Top Twenty' group, the elite school vocal group. The eight boys and twelve girls in this group performed at the Christmas and midyear concerts in December & March.

Miss Marilyn Black directed the 120-member mixed chorus through the three annual concerts.

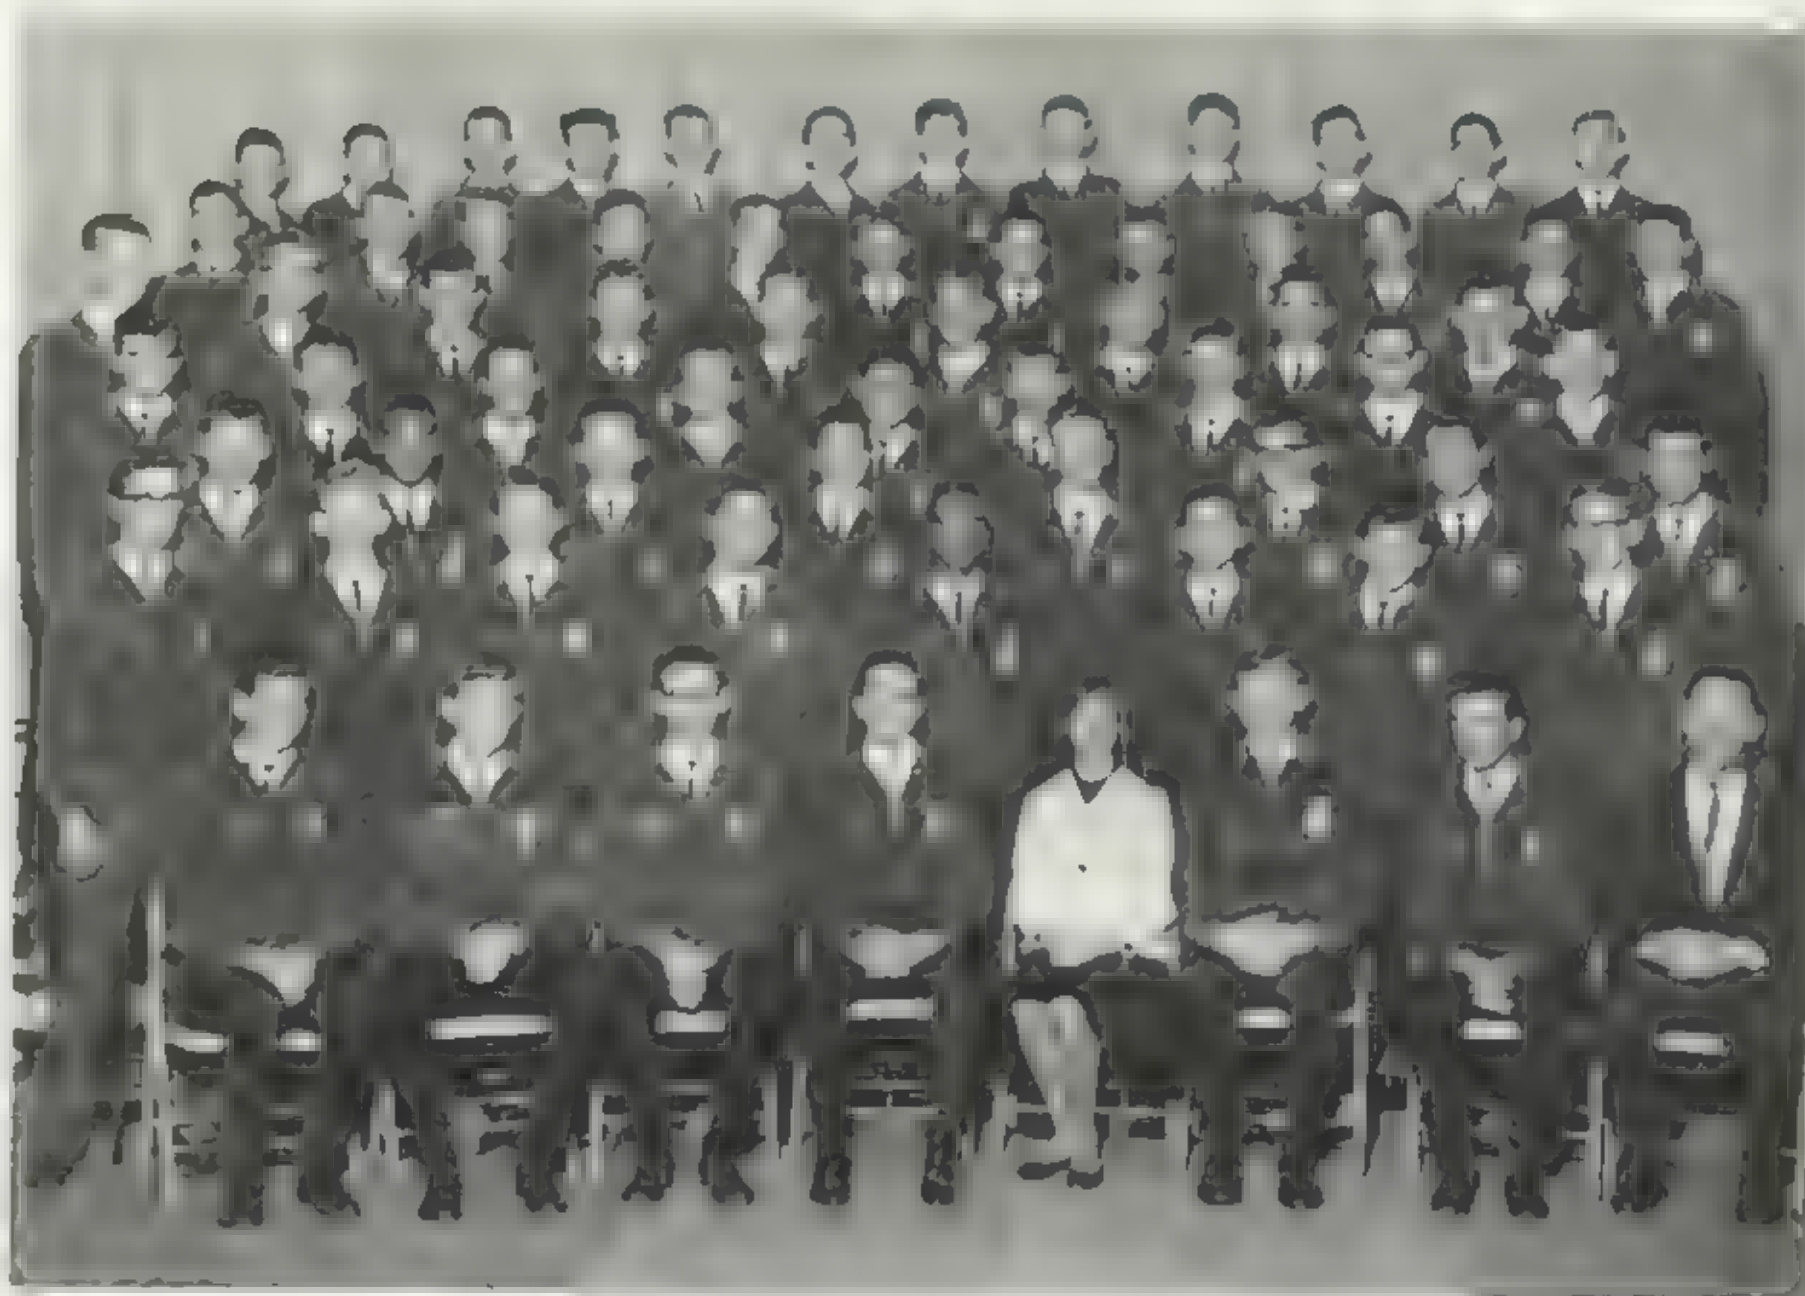

The chorus met for practice sessions during the regular school day. Boys met on Mondays and Wednesdays; and the girls on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Both groups practiced Fridays.

Mr. Marvin Stratmann held sixth period glee club classes.

The separate boys' and girls' choruses performed at each concert. Although these groups were composed of all members of the mixed chorus for the Christmas and midyear concerts, they were reduced to select singers for the pop concert. This selection was made in mid April by Miss Black.

Chorus members received 1/4 unit of high-school credit per year.

The move to the new high school gave the band a new air-conditioned practice room 1 1/2 times as large as the old room, new music stands, an office, special practice rooms, and lockers for instruments.

BG Band Boosters Association presented the organization with $1000 worth of new uniforms last fall.

The twenty members of the Bowling Green organization attended the EMO northeast Missouri Council Conference at Montgomery City October 28, and held the EMO Missouri Council Conference in April.

The BG Council is a member of the Mo. SC Ass'n.

Instead of the traditional yearbook king and queen, the yearbook staff this year chose to give full-page pictures to students who had contributed greatly to BGHS.

Wayne Korte and Annice Straube were chosen by the faculty to be known as Mr. and Miss BGHS of 1966. Scholarship, depth, and scope of participation in activities for the past four years were considered. (See Senior Directory for their activities).

Big Step Forward Sets Pace

One of the happiest days in a school man's life is a new-school dedication.

The men on this page culminated the drive for a new R-1 high school that ended May 22 in a dedication ceremony.

School Board members are Calvin Moore, Curryville; Robert O'Donel, Cyrene; Halliday Jones, president, Bowling Green; A. V. Beavers, Frankford; Les Calvert and Waldo Buchanan, Bowling Green.
